Suhaib has had enough of searching for bugs in the garden.

“I am bushed,” he yells to his big brother Yusuf and sister Maryam as they rummage through the shrubs.

Wondering what Mom is up to, he heads indoors.

“Mommy,” he calls.

“Mommeee!” a second time when she does not answer. Mommy is always around. Where is she? he wonders.

The smell of yummy cooking lures him to the kitchen.

Not there, he shrugs.

As they scamper off
to their room,
Suhaib breaks into song:

We love to play pray
To play pray
To play pray
We love to play pray
Every single day

“Let’s first turn our bedroom into a masjid,” exclaims Yusuf.

They each run off to find all the prayer mats in the house.
Back in their room, they carefully lay down the mats.
